HUGE CROWD OF TOBACCO GROWERS HEAR BINGHAM

Masterly Presentation of Co-Operative Plan Results in Pledge Rush.

A large and enthusiastic crowd of Ohio County tobacco raisers greeted Judge Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville, at the Court House in this city yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The circuit court hall was filled to overflowing with the farmers business men and others interested in the agricultural progress of the county. The occasion was also graced by the presence of a number of ladies. The meeting was presided over by the County Chairman, Mr. T. H. Black, and the speaker of the afternoon was introduced by Hon. A. B. Tichenor, of Point Pleasant. Judge Bingham was listened to with especial pleasure because of his fame as the originator of the co-operative marketing plan as applied to Kentucky and in a few minutes demonstrated to the uninitiated the fact that he is a past master of pure, concise, logical English. In a masterly address of over an hour he outlined the history and methods of co-operative marketing as successfully tried out in Denmark, California and the Burley section of Kentucky and pointed out the benefits which can be realized by the growers of the weed only through organization and collective bargaining. Most flattering reports were given of the progress of the drive for pool pledges in the other counties of the Green River district.

At the close of the address speeches were made by several Ohio County workers, scores of growers and will reside in Morgantown. During the past year he has had charge of Green River, Narrows and Bridgeport. The goods with the best of net's Creek churches. He succeeds Rev. T. T. Moore in the Butler County work.

HARDIN TANNER SHOT BY WILLIAM LYSLE

Hardin Tanner age 37, was shot and dangerously wounded by William Lysle, age 45, near Deanfield, this county, early Thursday afternoon. Lysle used a .38 calibre revolver, the bullet penetrating his victim's breast and coming out through his back.

Lysle and wife, who is the divorced wife of Tanner, resided in a tent. Tanner went to the tent with community, accompanied by Mr. and the alleged intention of persuading Mrs. Mason Morris, came to Hart's son, who was living with the ford, Sunday afternoon, and going to Lysle family, to return home with the residence of County Clerk Guy him. Failing to do this, it is reported that he threatened Lysle with a knife, when the later secured the cause. Being informed that he had no authority to do this on Sunday, the young folks went away only to return at midnight and renew their request, which was then granted.

Sheriff G. A. Ralph was immediately called and with Deputy Geo. Jones went to the scene, where they arrested Lysle, brought him to Hartford and placed him in the county jail. Latest reports yesterday were to the effect that Tanner will probably survive.

MCHENRY GIRL KILLED BY FRIGHT TRAIN

Miss Lena Lashley, 16 year old daughter of Mr. Felix Lashley, of McHenry, was fatally injured by a C. freight train just west of the Post Office in that city, at about 9 o'clock, yesterday morning.

It seems that she had gone for the mail and while on her return home passed along the railway siding, the engine of a passing train striking her. She was immediately removed to her home and a physician called. It was found that the left side of her skull had been crushed and that she had sustained other serious injuries. Her death occurred a few hours later.

K. E. A. TO MEET IN LOUISVILLE, NEXT APRIL

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15.—The Kentucky Educational Association and affiliated organizations will meet in Louisville next April 19, 20 and 21. It was decided today by the Board of Directors of the K. E. A. in session at the Hotel Henry Watterson.

An effort is to be made to double the membership of the K. E. A. between now and the time of meeting. In an effort to get 10,000 members the Association of County Superintendents will be divided into committees and each superintendent will be asked to endeavor to enlist every teacher in his county in the association.

SIMMONS ROAD ACT HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 15.—The Simmons road bill, reorganizing the State Highway Department, was held unconstitutional by Judge Sam Hurst in the Franklin Circuit Court today. Judge Hurst ruled that the 1922 Legislature did not have the authority to name the members of the commission created by the act.

Senators William A. Perry and R. C. Simmons, who brought the action to have the Simmons bill declared constitutional, announced immediately after the trial that an appeal to the Court of Appeals would be taken.

REV. BIRCH SHIELDS TO BE COUNTY MISSIONARY IN BUTLER

Rev. Birch Shields, of Cromwell, has resigned all his charges in this county and accepted the call to the county missionary work in the Jasper River Association, which embraces Butler County. He will assume his new charge October 1st, and will reside in Morgantown. During the past year he has had charge of Green River, Narrows and Bridgeport. The goods with the best of net's Creek churches. He succeeds Rev. T. T. Moore in the Butler County work.

Rev. Birch Shields is a native of this county and taught school a number of years before entering the ministry. He has been one of the leading ministers in the Ohio County Association and has accomplished much for Christianity here and all who know him regret that he is to leave, yet we wish him God speed in his new field.

COUPLE MARRIED AT MIDNIGHT HOUR

Miss Sarah Belle Allen and Mr. J. Walter Baize, of the Renfrow community, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Mason Morris, came to Hart's son, who was living with the ford, Sunday afternoon, and going to Lysle family, to return home with the residence of County Clerk Guy him. Failing to do this, it is reported that he threatened Lysle with a knife, when the later secured the cause. Being informed that he had no authority to do this on Sunday, the young folks went away only to return at midnight and renew their request, which was then granted.

Having obtained the coveted paper, at about 12:30 a. m. they proceeded to the residence of County Judge R. R. Welding and aroused him from his slumbers and were then and there united in the bonds of matrimony, and proceeded to their home rejoining.

The newlyweds are popular young people in their community and have the very best wishes of a host of friends.

PRIZE-WINNING BABY 100 PERCENT PERFECT

Louisville, Sept. 15.—Kentucky can boast of a perfect child. She is Virginia May Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Miller of Jeffersontown, champion baby in the State Fair Baby Health Contest.

Of the more than 3,000 children who have been examined by specialists under the charge of Dr. Edward J. Meyer during the ten annual contests, Virginia is the first one found not to have a single blemish. Perfect in every form, she scored 100 per cent.

It is the first year that a girl has won over a boy. The champion boy is James Seannell Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wells, 4308 West Broadway. His score was 99.6. Both the boy and girl were in the class for babies between the ages of 12 and 21 months.

The grand champion baby is 13 months old. Her father is a mechanic at the City Garage. He is 31 years old and the mother is 26. Mrs. Miller was Lillian Holloway, daughter of W. S. Holloway of Buechel. She said that Virginia May was a bottle-fed baby, she not having been able to nurse the baby after six weeks. The mother was much surprised at the baby's showing, not realizing that the baby was perfect physically.

501 CHILDREN ENTERED

The contest this year was the largest on record, 501 children having been entered. There were 241 girls, 245 boys and nine pairs of twins. Winners in the fourteen events were awarded their trophies and ribbons at 3 o'clock today in the big Live Stock Pavilion by G. Carney Cross, secretary of the State Fair.

CENTRAL PARK SCHOOL HAS AUSPICIOUS BEGINNING

The Central Park Graded and High School; McHenry, opened on Monday, Sept. 4th. After singing America's devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Daley. He commanded the many patrons who had assembled to witness the opening upon the superior school they have and briefly encouraged patrons, pupils and teachers to rally around the school and make it even better. Rev. McAtee made a short talk which was both humorous and inspirational and was highly enjoyed by all. After a few preliminary remarks by Prof. J. S. Mitchell and Mr. Ray Hocker, the pupils were placed in charge of their respective teachers, who recited all present revealing the fact that it was the largest one in the history of the school being more than 400 in the grades and 45 in high school department.

The faculty is composed of the following: Prof. J. S. Mitchell, Mr. Ray Hocker, Miss Cliffe Felix, Miss Edith Nuckols, Miss Pearl Brown, Mrs. Alleece Faught, Miss Mary Brown and Mrs. Myrtle Armenti. Only one new member was added to the last year's faculty. Such being the case the work was easily and quickly arranged. This is the fourth year Prof. Mitchell has been at the head of the school and through his efficient and untiring leadership backed by an interested and appreciative constituency, a faculty excelled by none and a board of trustees whose motto is "Service," the school has progressed until it ranks with the best schools in the state. All parties concerned are to be congratulated upon that success.—Contributed.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

At Hartford: Miss Ethel Grimes tdives Word at Bridge Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Grimes have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ethel Grimes to Mr. John J. Williams, of Wheeling, formerly of Lansdowne, Pa. The announcement came out Saturday at a Bridge Luncheon given by Miss Grimes to her circle of friends. There were three tables. When the hour arrived for refreshments the guests were invited to the dining room which was beautifully decorated with hearts and streamers fastened from every corner to the electrolier. The favors were miniature silk cases filled with confetti, the case bearing the ring announcing the engagement. The wedding will take place in the early fall. The groom-elect is a Kentuckian and is employed by the Crew-Levick Oil Company. —(The Smyrna, Delaware Times, Aug. 16, 1922.)

Mr. Williams is a former Hartford boy, having been born here, the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gross B. Williams. He is pleasantly remembered by a large number of local friends who wish for him and his chosen bridemate the utmost happiness.

REV. B. E. FUQUA'S HOME DESTROYED BY FLAMES

The two-story residence of Rev. R. E. Fuqua on Clay Street, this city, was recently destroyed by fire, which was discovered shortly after 7 o'clock, Sunday morning. A defective fuse is supposed to have been responsible for the conflagration.

Almost the entire male population of the city and a large number of women and children responded to the alarm but the fire had gained such headway that it was soon seen there was no chance of extinguishing it and every effort was made to save surrounding buildings and the contents of the burning residence.

The Shakers are one of the most picturesque religious sects of this country. Though they never became very strong numerically as other religious peoples have, still because of their quiet manners and peculiar beliefs and mode of living in colonies to themselves, they have attracted a great deal of attention.

The colony at South Union in Warren county, Kentucky, is the last in the state. At one time it numbered over seven hundred souls and was a flourishing settlement. But the Shakers did not believe in marriage, and only by necessities from the outside could their numbers be increased or maintained. For a time they grew at a considerable rate, but then they began to decline and now have almost passed out of existence.

While men and women dwelt together in the same colonies, they lived separate and apart. There were separate entrances to the buildings for men and women, separate stairways in the houses, and the men roomed on one side and the women on the other.

They sprang from the Quakers in England and dressed in much the same manner and used the same style of addressing others; always the "thee" and "thou" and the "you" and "you" and "you."

They did not believe in malice, in offering resistance or retaliation for any impositions or wrongs, and manifested a high religious spirit. They were very industrious and their lands were kept at a wonderful state of cultivation.

They raised the finest crops and bred splendid cattle. They manufactured many things, such as brooms, preserves, baskets, and raised gardens and field seed that were much sought after. In Kentucky they even grew silk worms to a considerable extent and manufactured silk from the cocoons.

Every community had its own stores where specialties of the goods were offered for sale. Buildings of the Kentucky colony which are to be sold, over one hundred in number, include stores, hotels and other structures, all in good condition.

Some of these buildings bear the dates of their erection, dating as far back as 1809 and as recent as 1917. One of the large buildings bears the date of 1839.

Along with the property will be sold much of the old, antique furniture and other personalty.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

A most pleasant surprise dinner was given Mrs. Lloyd Warden, of the No Creek community, Thursday, Sept. 14th, in honor of her 31st birthday, when many of her friends and relatives gathered at her home with well-filled baskets. The tribute was highly appreciated by Mrs. Warden and the day was enjoyed by all.

Following is a list of the persons present: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Warden and daughter, Helen; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McHugh and son, Bill; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ward; Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis; Mr. and Mrs. Halestine Sanderson; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hocken and baby; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hamm and wife; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hocken and wife; Mr. and Mrs. Morris; Messrs. ### LOGAN COUNTY SHAKERTOWN TO GO UNDER HAMMER

SHAKERTOWN, OHIO CIRCUIT COURT

UNDER $300 READING

Number of Cases Already Brought of by Court; jury Trials Begun Yesterday.

The regular September term of the Ohio Circuit Court began Monday morning with Judge George S. Wilson of Owenboro presiding at Centomawenid's attorney, Oliver G. Cary, of Cathcart, in the State. There will be no grand jury this term and probably very little criminal business will be taken up. However the following Commonwealth cases have been disposed of, viz: Comita vs. W. C. Daingerfield, charged with illegal sale of intoxicating liquor, plea of guilty, and facts submitted to Court, and punishment fixed at fine of $250 and 30 days in jail; Comita vs. W. C. Daingerfield, charged with illegal manufacture of intoxicating liquor, also plea of guilty, $250 fine and 30 days in jail. It appearing that said defendant had already served the number of days indicated in jail, under agreement with Commonwealth's Attorney, he was given credit for said time on his sentence. Five other cases against the same defendant, on similar charges, were then dismissed.

The following citizens reported Tuesday morning and were impaneled as petit jurors, viz: M. M. Tate, M. C. Schrock, J. H. Casper, T. B. Bell; Alvin Ross; J. H. Leach; Marion W. Bell; Courtland Taylor; W. H. Baker; Ira Wallen; H. W. Foreman; Remury Graham; J. T. Barnes; W. R. Skinner; Dick Stevens; Jesse Swope; R. P. Beck; J. W. Miller; Barnett Threlley and John Pirtle.

The following civil business will be disposed of so far: Dr. Bruce vs. Claude McElroy, compromised and disposed; Com. vs. George C. Co. vs. H. B. Bowen, et al., dismissed; Herbert McElroy vs. A. V. Carter, immediate of Court of Appeals, concerning Ohio Circuit Court in favor of defendant, filed; Gilbert Stoll vs. Maggie Stoll, judgment for defendant; Bank of Livermore vs. F. L. Rose, dismissed for want of prosecution; Green River Coal Mining Co. vs. Ohio County Board of Supervisors, trial before Judge began, taking of plaintiff's testimony completed and continued until 8th day; M. P. Dennis vs. W. H. Maddox, breach of contract, submitted to jury before noon adjourned yesterday. There was no session on account of the tobacco rally and meeting at the Court House.

REV. FRAZIER GOES TO CONFERENCE

Rev. T. T. Frazier left this morning for Central City to attend the annual session of the Louisville Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

Bro. Frazier is completing the second year of his pastorate here. He has proved himself an excellent preacher and pastor and we trust his family have won a warm place in the hearts of the Hartford people.

It is confidently believed and the following civil business will be disposed of so far: Dr. Bruce vs. Claude McElroy, compromised and disposed; Com. vs. George C. Co. vs. H. B. Bowen, et al., dismissed; Herbert McElroy vs. A. V. Carter, immediate of Court of Appeals, concerning Ohio Circuit Court in favor of defendant, filed; Gilbert Stoll vs. Maggie Stoll, judgment for defendant; Bank of Livermore vs. F. L. Rose, dismissed for want of prosecution; Green River Coal Mining Co. vs. Ohio County Board of Supervisors, trial before Judge began, taking of plaintiff's testimony completed and continued until 8th day; M. P. Dennis vs. W. H. Maddox, breach of contract, submitted to jury before noon adjourned yesterday. There was no session on account of the tobacco rally and meeting at the Court House.

FARM EXTRACTS

INFORMATION FROM THE EXPERIMENT STATION — AGRICULTURAL PAPERS AND THE COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE

Russian Fly Damage Not Certain As Yet

The exact extent to which the Russian fly probably will damage wheat sown in Kentucky this fall cannot be determined until the season is more advanced and the presence of the flies are observed on the wheat in different sections.

"Commercial seed growers usually have one and a half tons of soy-bean straw from a crop that yields 20 bushels of seed an acre. Since this is the case, a half ton of good straw to sow their grain after dry bean stalks and pods can be expected to yield five or six bushels of grain in the way of well-prepared seed, bright seed. The beans do not need seed in order to remain and are not molested by rats and mice when stored in piles."

Adair County Culls Lay Only Six Eggs During Week

Eight hens culled from the flock of 24 Rhode Island Reds owned by Miss Ella White, who lives near Columbia, Adair county, because

"The condition of Kentucky's wheat crop has been improved materially from year to year because many farmers have adopted the practice of sowing their seed week after they were removed, according to a report which she has just made to the extension division of the College of Agriculture on a culling demonstration held on her farm. During the week before culling the 24 hens in her flock produced a total of 38 eggs while the 16 that were kept in layers produced a total of 36 eggs during the week after culling.

Diseases Play Havoc In Many Swine Herds

Infectious swine diseases, parasites and various other troubles are making it increasingly difficult for the Kentucky farmer to produce pork at a profit, according to reports being received by the veterinary department of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station from all over the state. Cholera, abortion, bowel troubles and intestinal parasites have been on the increase and given considerable trouble during the last few months, the reports indicate.

"Hogs should be vaccinated with both the serum and virus in all cases where symptoms and lesions indicate that the disease may be cholera," Dr. W. W. Dimock, head of the department said. In early stages, many diseased conditions of swine show symptoms that are common to cholera. If the owner waits for three or four days to make sure of the symptoms, a number of pigs may become infected and die provided the disease is cholera. Even though the disease is not cholera the cost of vaccination is not lost for the owner has an immune herd once he has vaccinated.

"Bowels troubles, which seem to be on the increase, have been investigated at the station for the past year with the result that a 'cure' has been made to them. These troubles are most prevalent among hogs. As soon as trouble from this source becomes apparent, the animals should be given a purgative and then moved to clean soil just after the medicine takes effect. Plenty of fresh water, ground

Soybean And Corn Growers Study Seed Saving Methods

Now that corn and soybeans are maturing in all parts of the state many farmers who have the two crops growing together are wondering how they can harvest enough bean seed to plant soy in all their corn next year. Pulling a half ton or more of beans and stalks, storing them in the barn for a while and then later sowing them out is perhaps the best method of solving this problem, according to Ralph Kenney, soils and crops specialist of the College of Agriculture.

"A half ton of beans and stalks can be pulled with little difficulty and thrown into a wagon bed driven through the corn field. Leaving the stalks and the beans in the barn feed and the use of an intestinal antiseptic have been found to be helpful in controlling this trouble.

"Experiments are under way on a number of farms in the state to determine whether or not abortion in swine can be controlled by the use of vaccines. A number of sows in different herds that aborted this spring have been vaccinated and rebred to determine the value of this treatment. The vaccine is furnished free by the station.

"The common round worm of hogs seems to be the most troublesome parasite, this worm being most serious in pigs from four weeks to five months old. Oil of ephenopodium which may be purchased at any drug store, is said to give results equally as good as those obtained by the use of higher priced drugs. Two cubic centimeters of the oil of ephenopodium are given with about 30 cubic centimeters of castor oil to a pig weighing from 40 to 100 pounds.

Youngsters Learn Points Of Beef Cattle Business

Close to 200 Kentucky farm boys who are members of junior agricultural clubs in eight different counties of the state are getting a real taste of the beef cattle business in connection with the work they are doing this summer to develop the 194 beef cattle calves which they will enter in the club classes at the first annual fat and feeding cattle show and sale to be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards, Louisville, Nov. 23 and 24, according to M. S. Garside, assistant state leader of junior agricultural club work at the College of Agriculture. Among other things, the youngsters are learning how to feed beef cattle for the greatest profit and how to show them to the best advantage at fairs and livestock shows, he said.

The feeding of the animals for the November show is now in an advanced stage with the result that many of the calves are showing prospects of being outstanding individuals equal in quality and finish to those developed by adult breeders and feeders. Many of the young beef cattlemen are getting in shape for the Louisville show by entering their calves in the numerous county and district fairs being held over the state during the present season. Their prospects for profits on their summer's work are exceptionally bright just at present in view of the fact that baby heifers are topping everything in the way of cattle in prices on the various livestock markets.

Work of developing the animals has reached the point where the animals will be kept on full feed from now until the time of the show and pushed for the greatest possible gains. A mixture composed of four parts of ground corn, three parts of ground oats or barley and one and one-fourth parts of oil meal by weight is being recommended as the best feed for the animals from now until the show. This mixture has given excellent results in finishing cattle on the college farm. The animals should be allowed to eat all the grain mixture that they can clean up together with all the rough feed which they will eat.

Warren county claims 40 of the young beef cattlemen, Todd county 25, Union county 22, Trimble county 18, Lincoln county 20, Boyle county 22, Washington county 28 and Marion county 19.

Spud Seed Certification Gets Under Way In State

Forty Jefferson county farmers who are members of the certified seed potato growers' association recently organized in that county have made a good start with their plans to produce "pedigreed" potato seed, according to J. S. Gardner, vegetable gardening extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, who recently completed the first field inspection of their plots for the present season. Another inspection of the plants in the field will be held later in the season while the tubers also will be inspected in the fall to protect them from erosion and leaching during the winter, County Agent E. F. Davis says.

Despite the fact that the Jefferson county potatoes got off to a late start because of weather conditions, recent rains have benefited the crop considerably and indications are that the growers will obtain satisfactory yields. All growers concerned are enthusiastic about the prospects for this year's crop and the future of their newly formed association, Mr. Gardner reported.

Since the formation of the Jefferson county association, the production of certified seed potatoes has aroused considerable interest among farmers in other sections of the state. Organization of a second association has just been completed in Shelby county, five farmers being charter members of it. C. W. Gutherie has been named secretary of the new association.

Certified potato seed should continue to grow in favor with Kentucky farmers in view of the fact that the use of it has produced marked increases in yield over those obtained from ordinary seed stock, Mr. Gardner said.

HOUSE REVOLTS AGAINST TARIFF AS SUBMITTED

Recommits by Vote of 177 to 130;
Dye Embargo and Duty On Potash Objectionable.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Revolt against the action of conferees in writing back into the administration tariff bill a dye embargo, licensing provision and duty on potash, the house late today sent that measure back to conference. Its managers were instructed to accept senate amendments repealing the existing dye embargo and placing potash on the free list.

Some Republican house leaders, plainly surprised and disappoited, were pessimistic as to what the ultimate result of the house action would be. Representative Mondell, Wyoming, the floor leader, said he could not say what the outcome would be, while Chairman Fordney, of the ways and means committee, said it looked doubtful whether there would be a tariff bill at this session of congress. Chairman McCumber of the senate managers, took a more optimistic view, however, stating that the senate would agree to another conference and that the differences would be adjusted speedily.

The vote in the house was 177 to 130, with 102 Republicans, 74 Democrats and the only socialist voting in support of the motion by Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, to recommit, and 126 Republicans and four Democrats voting against it. The vote followed a day of preliminary wrangling and sharp debate and announcement of the result by Speaker Gillett, was greeted by applause on both sides of the chamber and with loud cheers from many of the Democrats.

Most of the Republicans voting for the Garner motion are from the Western agricultural states and New York.

Apparently the move by Representative Garner, who is the ranking Democrat on the committee which framed the original tariff to include potash in his motion to recommit, took the managers of the bill by surprise.

The potash duty proposed by the conferees was 1½ cents a pound for three years as against a five year's duty ranging from one cent to two and one-half cents a pound in the original house bill. The senate placed potash on the free list.

YOUNGEST HOBO FOUND IN LOUISVILLE

Barefooted and attired only in a pair of pants, shirt and cap, which he had not had off except possibly for an occasional swim since the latter part of July, when he ran away, the youngest professional hobo ever, picked up by the local police, was found on the river front this morning by Patrolman Huck Jones. He is Richard Godfrey, 10 years old, son of Joe Godfrey, 446 North Broadway, Lexington.

"I have been sleeping along the roadside, in haystacks and on a big sandpile down here by the river," said Richard, "and I've been eating just what I've found. I never begged a thing any time."

Patrolman Jones bought Richard his first meal since he ran away from home—a steak, tomatoes and coffee. It was the first time Richard had sat down to a table since leaving home. The police are holding him until they hear from the Lexington authorities.

Richard's bed since he landed in Louisville after a walk of four days and four nights from Frankfort had been a warm sandpile on the river, in which he burrowed at night. He ate his breakfasts at the Haymarket, where he picked up such fruit and vegetables as had been thrown away.

Just a Regular Boy

Richard is just a normal 10-year-old boy, with dark brown hair, freckles and a fair complexion. But one thing that Richard did was not a normal thing. He confessed to taking $1 which his mother had left on a table. This he spent "for foolishness" in Lexington in two days. The only thing of value he bought was an 85-cent waist. He then took an interurban car for Frankfort and had 5 cents left when he got there.

"I stayed in Frankfort for a week," said Richard. "Slept in a place where they're building a church and ate what I found." He had shoes and stockings when he set out to walk to Louisville, but soon cast them aside. Nothing has been the matter with him, Richard said, except that he stumped his

PARTIAL PEACE PLAN ACCEPTED BY UNION CHIEFS

Secretary of Labor Davis Announces Settlement On 35 to 40 Per Cent of Lines

Chicago, Sept. 13.—B. M. Jewell, head of the striking railway shop crafts, announced that the union's policy committee of ninety had authorized him to negotiate individual peace agreements with the railroads of the country, based on the terms of a general settlement plan adopted by the policy committee.

What's the matter with your sore foot, Pop?"

"Nothin', darn you, nothin,'" snarled the old man. "I just robbed a bank up there a ways and I'm usin' this disguise as a means of escape."

—American Legion Weekly.

Indubitably

Julian is a literal-minded little chap, as was evidenced not long ago when he met with a slight accident. He had fallen from a ladder and when his mother ran to pick him up, she cried:

"Oh, my dear, how did you fall?" Whoreupon Julian, who is a second grade pupil, replied:

"Vertically." —American Legion Weekly.

L. & N. TO EQUIP PASSENGER TRAIN WITH RADIO SET

The first fully-equipped radio railroad car in the South yesterday was put to test by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad in the Tenth Street yards.

The car has an antenna string eighteen inches from the top along its length, and a specially constructed receiving set. It was run at varying speeds while the radio concert of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times was broadcast yesterday afternoon. The reception of the concert was not impaired in any way by the speed of the car.

R. R. Hobbs, superintendent of telegraph, has had the radio car under construction for some time. The railroad intends to outfit one of its flyers, the Pan-American, with a receiver for the entertainment of passengers.

Mr. Hobbs was pleased with the results of the experiment yesterday, and the car will be attached to regular trains and taken as far as New Orleans for further experiments.

More than 1,000 persons were attracted to Union Station by the radio car yesterday and an equally large crowd last night.

WILL THE FARMER BE COME A BUSINESS MAN?

Yesterday afternoon the farmers of Ohio County had the golden opportunity of hearing from the lips of one of the greatest philanthropists the details of the first feasible plan for releasing the agricultural interests of the State from the grip of the system which has made the tiller of the soil the scapegoat of the industrial world. The spirit of industrial co-operation has been aroused and successfully applied in all of the other branches of industry, but the farmer has continued his apathy of disinterested but zealous disorganization. He has lived, through the years, a major portion of the nation's productive labor, but he has had to be satisfied with an entirely inadequate proportion of the proceeds of his toil, since the cause was in a measure due to the lack of systematic and scientific management of the actual means of production but this has been in great measure overcome by the application, consciously or otherwise, of the methods of modern marketing technique. But the other drawback has persisted, in the way of haphazard methods of marketing the products of the farmer's labor. The gain in methods of production has been just by the lack of intelligent co-operation in the way of collective bargaining. But at last the best minds of the country have been centered upon the farmer's ultimate problem and a well-conceived and practicable plan has been evolved and put into operation for the co-operation of the tiller of the soil in the obtaining of a living wage and a reasonable profit for his products. Initiated among the fruit raisers of California the plan has been applied, and most successfully in the Burley tobacco raising section of Kentucky. It is now being brought to the raisers of dark tobacco in West Kentucky. Judge Bligham, Col. on sonnet, Mr. Sapiro and the host of other faithful workers for the cause have been and are still bringing to the tobacco raisers of the Buck Patch the good tidings of freedom—freedom from the control of the market by the dealers and buyers, who, whether legitimate operators or speculators, have in the very nature of things, looked first to their own interests, the fixing of the purchase price of tobacco at the lowest possible figure. Now through the workings of the Dark Tobacco Growers Co-Operative Association the tobacco raiser has offered to a new and sure method of industrial salvation by control of production, systematic and scientific grading and business-like methods of marketing.

But to have generalities and getting down to nitty-gritty. The drive for membership in the Dark Tobacco organization in Ohio County is now in full swing. Classes of all classes have rallied to the aid of the farmers and it is within the power of the workers, if received in the proper spirit, to obtain the required acreage in the county by Oct. 1, and thus insure for us the benefits which have been realized in the Bluegrass. By so doing the price of tobacco can be doubled and trebled and the tobacco raiser will be placed upon a plane of deserving prosperity. There is no serious opposition in the country to the movement. Only the spirit of inertia stands in the way. Let us once and for all throw off this mantle of inertia and each and every one put his shoulder to the wheel of progress. Farmers, attention! Your salvation is in your own hands. Meet the workers more than half way and let the best country in the world "go over the top." 100 percent in acreage pledged, before the end of the drive. We pledge our wholehearted help, and we trust and believe you can and will do it. Let's go!

THIRD CLASS POST
MASTER EXAMINATION

At the request of the Postmaster General, the United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination to be held on October 14, 1922, to fill the position of postmaster in the offices hereinafter named at which a vacancy exists, or is about to occur.

It is expected that appointments will be made as a result of this examination unless it is found in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by transfer or promotion. This is not an examination under the Civil Service Act and rules, but is held under an Executive order of May 19, 1921, providing for such procedure.

Following is a list of post offices for which the examination will be held, with the salary and date of vacancy in each case:

Office	Salary	Date of Vacancy
Denver Dam, 2,600	Oct. 3, 1922.
Morgantown, 1,700	Oct. 3, 1922.

Applicants must submit to the examiner on the day of the examination their photographs, taken within two years, securely pasted on the space provided on the application card sent them after their applications are filed. Tintypes or proofs will not be accepted.

Application Form 2241, and Form 2222, containing full information as to the requirements to be met and the character of the examination to be given, may be obtained from any one of the vacancy offices listed, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Applications must be properly executed, showing the examination point at which the applicant desires to be examined, and must be filed with the Commission at Washington in time to arrange for the examination at the examination point chosen.

NOTE—Attention is directed to the fact that so-called civil service correspondence schools have no official status and no connection with the Government. Authentic information in regard to examinations may be obtained only from the United States Civil Service Commission, and without cost. Instructions of the Post Office Department to postmasters and postal employees relative to such schools appear in the Postal Bulletin of September 12, 1921, and in the October, 1921, supplement to the Postal Guide.

NO CREEK

Sept. 19.—People of this community are nearly through cutting tobacco.

Misses Margaret Carter, Claudia and Annie Belle Allen, of Concord, spent the week-end with Misses Mabel R. and Corlina Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis, of Concord, spent the week-end with Mrs. Lewis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ward.

Rev. Granville Jagers purchased a Ford one day last week.

Mr. R. E. Henham went to Louisville one day last week to bring home a radio set, which his father gave him and his brother, Mr. H. V. Henham. The outfit has been installed and messages received from Louisville, Detroit, Atlanta, Kansas City and other points. Mr. Henham will have the honor of installing the first fully equipped radio set owned in the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Bennett, of Washington, spent the week-end with M. S. Bennett's father, Mr. W. G. Bennett.

Mr. J. K. Tanner, of Buford, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wren.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Cobb, of Slaughter, Ky., are visiting Rev. Granville Jaeger's and family.

BLUES ENTERTAIN NEEDS

The Blues will entertain the Reds of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Hartford Methodist Church, Sept. 26 in the basement of the church. All members are urged to be present. This will take the place of the October meeting.

MRS. HORACE TAYLOR
IS APPRECIATIVE

To the Hartford Herald and my friends, who assisted me in the contest, I wish to extend my sincere thanks; to the winners my heartfelt congratulations.

Respectfully,
MRS. HORACE TAYLOR,

LOCAL DASHES

Messrs. F. L. and Douglas D. Felix spent last Wednesday in Owenton.

The Woman's Club of Hartford will meet with Mrs. J. S. Glenn Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Don't forget the Special Factory Range Sale at J. F. Casebier & Son's, Beaver Dam, Friday and Saturday, 38-39.

Mr. J. Ed. Gruenthal, President of the Gruenthal Hardware Co., of Owenton, was in this city on business yesterday.

Mr. John T. King, city, went to Louisville Saturday morning to interview for employment with the L. & N. R. R.

Mr. V. L. Fulker left yesterday for Flint, Mich., to procure and drive back for Acton, Bros., city, a Buick Six Roadster.

WORK OF STOCKPORT P. T. A.

The P. T. A. of Stockport has resumed activities for the year, enrolling in its first meeting seventy-five charter members. Officers elected were: Mrs. Z. Harrel, President; Roy H. Foreman, Vice President; Miss Anna Lou Hazelrigg, Secretary; Miss Maple Russell, Treasurer.

Mrs. Z. Harrel secured the privilege of collecting the school taxes for the year and will donate the percent for collections to the organization. Mrs. A. B. Kewell secured the privilege of taking the school census and donated the proceeds of this work to the association.

The association members are very enthusiastic and hope to have a great increase in enrollment through the work of the committee on the membership drive.

The Delta-Pacifist.

"H. G. Wells is known in Europe as a delta-pacifist, and truly his recent peace articles have stirred up a lot of bitterness and strife."

The speaker was Stephen Lanzanne, the French pacifist. He went on: "Wells reminds me of the dangerous individual who was about to be married. When he came to the church on the wedding morning he warned the minister beforehand that he didn't want any fuss."

"He consented, however, to stand himself in the form at the flower-decked altar, but as the minister proceeded with the ritual he got more and more impatient. Finally, when he was asked if he, Henry, did take this woman, Jane, to be his lawful wedded wife and so on, he gave a snort before the question was half through, and then turned to the congregation and said in a loud, jocular voice:

"Well, I guess I came here with that intention."

They Never Did.

My most embarrassing moment occurred while dramatizing a Christmas play. I had the part of the mother of a large family presiding at the feast on Christmas day. It fell to me to carve the goose. Having rehearsed this part, I was anticipating no difficulty, so I started bravely out on the breast bone, gently and slowly it slipped out of my grasp. I tried again with the same effect. As the titters from the audience increased, I became slightly confused.

At this opportune moment the father, sitting opposite, uttered his next lines, which were: "Did you ever see such a goose?"

With that the audience began to roar, and I gave it up in ignominious defeat.—Exchange.

Plugging Out.

A Kentucky man seems to have found a relative of the city girl who thought he must be cold work hunting the winter wheat.

The young woman of whom the Kentuckian tells is a native of Cincinnati, and was lately talking with him about tobacco and tobacco-growing.

"I should like ever so much to see a tobacco field," she said, "especially when it is just plugging out."—Way-side Tales.

Breaded Observation.

"A statesman has to be a profound student."

"No doubt about it," replied Senator Borgham. "There was when a good campaigner could get by. If he kept his eye on the map of his own state. Now you've got to be an expert in the geography of the world."

World's Largest Reservoir.

In about two years London's reservoir at Littleton will be the largest artificial reservoir in the world. It will hold water to supply London for a month, or 6,500,000,000 gallons. Its surface will cover 800 acres.

AUDIO FREQUENCY AMPLIFIER UNITS

Construction of Two Is Described, With the Materials That Must Be Purchased.

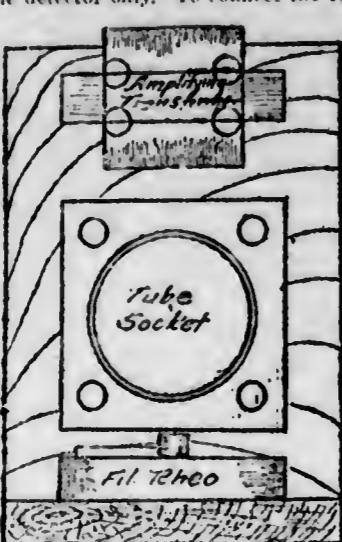

Theoretically any number of transformer coupled stages of audio frequency amplification can be used. However, due to the amplification of static disturbances, power line induction, tube noises, etc., three stages are about the practical limit. If more than three stages are used the noises become so loud in comparison with the signal that it is difficult to hear the signal.

Since audio frequency amplifying transformers can be purchased at any radio shop and the simplest method of coupling, the construction of two audio frequency amplifier units will be described.

The first unit will be arranged to be used in conjunction with the vacuum tube receiver mounted on the eight-inch square horizontal base board, previously mentioned in this column. The box that were originally connected to the telephone receivers by connected to the terminals of the amplifying transformer. One side of the secondary of the amplifying transformer is connected to the grid, and the other side of the secondary to the filament and common battery lead. The filament rheostat is in series with the positive side of the filament. The plate terminal on the tube socket is connected to one side of the phone, the other side of the phone being connected to the positive side of a 45-volt "H" battery. Use a "hard" tube as an amplifier.

When using the amplifier unit for the first time, tune the receiver with the detector only. To connect the terminates T.P. from the amplifier unit in place of the phones in the plate circuit of the amplifier, adjust both the filament rheostats until the signal strength is maximum.

Amplifier Unit

If it is desired to still further amplify the incoming signal two amplifier units can be constructed, the output of each unit being connected to the input of the next, and the phones being placed in the plate circuit of the last amplifier tube.

In constructing the second unit make the panel and the baseboard of the same thickness, kind of wood, and finish as used for the receiver. The panel should be four inches wide and six inches high, the baseboard three inches wide and four inches deep to "match up." Use the same kinds of binding posts and filament rheostat that were used on the receiver.

Fig. XXXIV is a plan view of the amplifier unit, and Fig. XXXV is an elevation of the front view of the panel. The diagram of connections is, of course, the same as for the previously described unit and is shown in Fig. XXXIII.

These amplifier units can be used in conjunction with any radio receiver. The same units connected electrically as shown in Fig. XXXIII can be mounted to suit the builder's own taste.

SEEKS STANDARD APPARATUS

National Radio Chamber of Commerce Is Negotiating With Federal Departments.

The National Radio Chamber of Commerce is negotiating with the various government departments, such as the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, United States Signal Corps and United States Navy Department, with a view to co-operating with these departments in the standardization of radio apparatus, methods of manufacture, methods of testing, etc.

The National Radio Chamber of Commerce intends to work with these departments and assist them in their radio problems.

TIPS FOR FANS

A radio amateur in France has tough luck. He can't send at all and is not permitted to listen in on certain government transmitting stations.

A condemned murderer in a Boston jail is spending his remaining hours in the construction of a radio receiving set so that the inmates may enjoy programs during their hours of unemployment.

Despite all advice to the contrary, people still insist on using dry cells for the filament supply of vacuum tubes. The batteries will hold up for about five minutes and then they will slowly die down, until nothing at all can be heard.

Secretary Wallace has announced completion of plans for forecasting weather, crop and market news by radiophone from Memphis, Tenn.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Roswell, N. M., and Milwaukee, Wis., plus giving the Department of Agriculture 11 stations throughout the United States from which agricultural news may be disseminated.

A radio aerial well grounded will take all of the joy out of lightning rod salesmen. Run a No. 1 copper wire down from your lightning arrester, as specified by the new regulations of the underwriters' code compiled in Washington recently, and your home will be amply protected from lightning. If you have gone deep into the earth in making your ground,

ACCIDENTS SECOND TO DISEASES IN KENTUCKY

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 10.—More persons came to their death in 1921 in Kentucky by violence and in accidents than were carried off by any disease except pneumonia and tuberculosis, it is shown by figures made public here today by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health. Violent and accidental deaths were 1,799, according to the figures, while deaths from tuberculosis were 3,135 and pneumonia was responsible for 2,021.

Total deaths from accidental causes were 1124, the largest single item, according to J. F. Blackerby, director of the bureau, being burns of various kinds, which were responsible for 140 deaths, and then road accidents occasioning the next largest number of fatalities, being responsible for 140 deaths, and then in order come mine and quarry accidents, 138 deaths; automobile accidents, 93 deaths, and accidental poisonings, 6 deaths.

Of the 275 deaths by violence, 173 were suicides and 202 homicides. In connection with these, Mr. Blackerby pointed out, referring to the need of more stringent legislation against the carrying of firearms, that over half of the suicides were by means of some kind of firearm, and that in the case of the homicides firearms were used in 90 per cent of the murders.

A. F. OF L. URGES IMPEACHMENT OF H. M. DAUGHERTY

Atlantic, City, N. J., Sept. 14.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor today demanded the impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty and Federal Judge Wilkerson of Chicago in connection with the injunction proceedings brought by the Government in the rail shopmen's strike.

Immediate steps looking toward impeachment will be taken by the Federation, said a formal statement embodying the labor organization's demand.

OHIO FEVER HITS MONROE AS FLOWING WELL IS STRUCK

Tompkinsville, Ky., Sept. 14.—Excitement is running high here as the result of the striking of a flowing oil well on the Keers farm on Kettle Creek, this county. A West Virginia syndicate owns the well. A local company has been formed and will start drilling on an adjoining lease tomorrow.

Slight Error

The deputy sheriff was trying to break the bad news gently.

"Are you the Widow Jones, ma'am?" he asked the woman who came to the door.

"Widow Jones?" she retorted with asperity. "Not so you could notice it. My old ma is sittin' back there in the kitchen this minute."

"Sorry to have disturbed you then ma'am," replied the deputy politely. "Guess the boys down to Hooper must have gone and lynched the wrong feller." —American Legion Weekly.

In Haste

The host was nervous and inexperienced and he rose hurriedly at the conclusion of a song with which one of the guests had been obliging.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began. "Before Mrs. Smith started to sing she—at—told me her—at—voice was not in the best condition and—ah—asked me to apologize for it, but I neglected to do and—ah—I apologize now." —American Legion Weekly.

Talking Movies Possible.

Though "speaking films" were first made about 1900, their combination with picture films has just been successfully accomplished for the first time, by two Swedish scientists, and the talking movie seems about to become a reality. The method, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, employs the fundamental method of earlier developments which makes use of the property of selenium for controlling a telephone current when inserted by variable illumination. The novelty of this latest work seems to lie in the successful combining of picture bearing and sound-record bearing films by running them on the same shaft, while taking and reproducing the double record and in making a volume-controlled electric current greater in amplitude than the

A SILENT MEMBER

By MOLLIE MATHER

(© 1922 Western Newspaper Union)

Patience took stock of herself, complacently.

"If there was just one thing that I could do perfectly," she thought. "As it is, I'm an indifferent musician, a fair—well, hardly fair typist and I can plan or create dresses much better than I can sew them."

Wistfully she repeated her thought to her busy sister Rosalind, when Rosalind came in from the music classes. Absently, her mind on the dull spells she had left, the sister made answer.

"Don't worry your head, Patty; you will come into your own, some day."

"And in the long while," Patience replied, "I'm inflicted upon you, Rosalind. Because your friends are as generous as yourself, it really no reason that I should burden the firm."

A long-faced face appeared in the doorway of the little flat. "Patty?"

repeated the newcomer, "what a premonious name for three eminently ambitious students!"

Beatrice came into the room. "Dear girl," she seriously addressed Patty, "you are the silent member of our firm; we just couldn't get along at all without your bright presence. You are the flower in the desert, the perfume in despair. Is dinner ready? Lucy day grows slower every day."

Patty jumped up from the divan.

"I'll see," she offered.

Lucy May in the small kitchen cried: "No, dinner ain't ready."

Patty was placing the cloth for the evening meal. "I am trying to hurry Edie's up," she protested.

"I have been speaking at the Y. W. C. Beatrice explained, "and I have a talk at the high school this evening. I am sure I do not know how I shall ever get my notes in order for the talk at the federated clubs tomorrow. And then there is my blue satin, in woe of pressing—"

"Oh, I'll do that for you," Patty called. She was putting the roses on the table. "Dinner ready?" she cheerfully inquired.

"How," asked Beatrice at table, "about the clowns today, Rosalind?"

"The Baldwin children," Rosalind answered—"and of course my most creditable pupils from a financial stand-point, are at times, almost impossible."

Brevity, Nan, the everlast, entered.

"I have designed a perfectly wonderful dress for Mrs. Rich Coop," she began enthusiastically, "but there is a detail about the front panel which does not please her. We almost came to blows, regarding lines. I deserted, making dinner a pretense for departure, but tomorrow I shall have to go over the whole thing again."

The flat vacated that evening, the busy friends going on to various states that claimed their presence. Patience, humming her gay little song, examined carefully Nan's drawing of the disputed creation. Then, happily, Patty smiled, while her sure fingers traced a copy. The panel referred to was undoubtedly improved in the short. Beatrice had left her notes of tomorrow's talk in a confusing pile on her dresser. Patty attacked them, a frown of perplexity wrinkling her pretty brow. The typewriter was humming, when a dark head appeared in the doorway.

"I will be very good, and read my paper in quiet," begged a mosquito-like note. "If you will let me come in, Patty. You are, I see—" the man called, "acting as usual. Where are the celebrities?"

"Sit down, David," the girl carelessly invited. "I'll be through with Edie in a moment. It's coming out fine."

"Whatever is it?" David remarked inquisitively, but he was not informed.

Beatrice's notes neatly labeled were in her desk book, when Patty returned to the room.

"You will be glad to be alone for another hide-and-go-seek, won't you, David?" she asked tentatively, "while I have something to press in this drawer?"

"Of course," he answered.

Apologetically she sealed herself inside the telephone stand.

"I thought," she explained, "it might be better to give the message this evening, so I could have the children over early—just after Rosalind goes out. She gives a few home lessons in the morning, and the Baldwin children are different, David. They just won't spell the hundred; and their mother must be pleased, and proud of them. I can make the drill song a real game. You know I have not expected the music, David—or in any other subject."

Patty's voice was momentarily doubtful, but only momentarily. "I will have the children, coloring that drill," she enthused. "You'll see, David." Seizing in relief, she looked back at him, as she arose.

"It is settled," Patience said, "the Baldwin children will be here in the morning. Now that is a secret, and you are not to tell. I, you know, am the silent partner of our otherwise gifted firm—of four."

Very deliberately the man folded his paper. Then, before Patty could realize what had happened, he had her in his arms.

"And I am looking for a silent partner myself," he said after a happy silence. "Patty, darling, there is no use you trying to refuse me; the husband of our firm will be an appreciative member."

"I'm not thinking of refusing," said Patience demurely.

MADE BUSINESS OF MURDER

William Burke, Infamous Irishman, Also Instrumental in Adding Significant Verb to Language.

Burke and Hare were two notorious body-snatchers, or resurrectionists, who carried on their infamous trade in Edinburgh. William Burke was born in Ireland in 1792, and went to Scotland as a laborer about 1817. In 1827 he was living in a cheap lodging house kept by another Irish laborer named William Hare. About the end of 1827 one of Hare's lodgers, an army pensioner, died, and Burke and Hare sold the body to Dr. Robert Knox, an Edinburgh anatomist. Hare thereupon suggested body-snatching as a business and Burke agreed. The two men then started in to entice poor travelers to Hare's or some other cheap lodging house. The victims were filled with liquor and then suffocated under mattresses, without marks of violence. Doctor Knox took the bodies and paid up to £14 ($60) for them. At least 15 people had been murdered in this way before Burke and Hare were arrested. Hare turned King's evidence, and Burke was found guilty and hanged in Edinburgh on January 28, 1829. Hare found Scotland too hot for him and went to England, where he is believed to have died under an assumed name. The verb "to Burke," meaning to suffocate, to strangle, to suppress, or to put out of the way secretly, had its origin in Burke's method of doing away with his victims.

WHERE GREAT EXPLORER LIES

South Georgia Island, Tomb of Shackleton, Lonely Spot in the Great Antarctic Region.

An interesting picture of life in South Georgia Island, the "Gateway of the Antarctic," where Shackleton was buried, was given by an explorer who made a research expedition there a few years ago. At that time there was only one woman on the island, and she was the domestic in the household of Capt. C. A. Larsen, a former Antarctic explorer who had settled down as head of a Norwegian whaling station on the island. "Below my solitary tent," the correspondent writes, "the grassy bank sloped sharply to a milk-colored glacial stream entering an inlet of the sea only 50 yards away. A quarter of a mile across the inlet stood the perpendicular front of a beautiful valley glacier, coming down between peaked hills from the lifeless, silent interior. Penguins bobbed out of the sea below the glacier and were my most interesting callers, for their curiosity could not resist a human being. Sea elephants crawled unconcernedly up the stream below me and went to sleep among the hummocks on the beach. Above the tent, on the plateau of the little promontory, seven pairs of albatrosses carried on their courtship and nesting, along with giant petrels, skuas, kelp gulls and the tawny little antarctic titlarks, the only bird of the Far South, whose cheerful song was almost the sole homelike sound."

Details Needed.

A woman, blessed with a masterful disposition and considerable property, died, leaving behind her a will in which her husband was cut off with a dollar, on the ground that he had deserted her a year before.

The lawyer finally located the man and broke the news gently by telling him that he had received only a small bequest.

"How much?" carelessly asked the man.

"One dollar."

With the same carelessness, the man turned toward the door. Just as he reached it, however, a sudden thought struck him.

"How much?" he called back anxiously. "Did she specify what I was to do with this dollar?"

Sarcasm From the Grave.

The will of Alexander Louis Trichera de Mattois, the English translator of Finis, Masterlink, Coopers, Zola and many other continental writers, contains one bequest that will interest a good many booklovers who have loaned their favorite volumes not wisely but too well—at any rate, one generously, says the Living Age.

The estate of Mr. de Mattois was not large, its gross value amounting to less than £3,000 ($15,000), and many of his bequests take the form of books.

He leaves books to many of his friends. One volume in particular is left to a certain friend and is described as one "which he borrowed many years ago and has not returned."

Increased Tractor Power.

A new attachment designed to give the small tractor greater bearing area and increased pulling power, replaces the round wheels with two large sprockets, according to an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Outside of each sprocket is a cast steel arm which projects forward and downward, carrying at its front end a smaller idler wheel. A track tread passes around the sprocket and idler wheel, giving the tractor increased bearing area.

Lightest of Liquids.

Many experiments here and abroad have shown that liquid hydrogen is by far the lightest of all known liquids. Its density is one-fourteenth that of water, and, curiously enough, this happens to be the same ratio of density that hydrogen in the gaseous state bears to air. For long the lightest liquid known was liquefied marsh gas, which possesses about two-fifths of the density of water.—Washington Star.
